A Memoir - A potentially disastrous honeymoon in Bermuda; a perilous skiing incident; baking a 'surprise' birthday cake; competing on Jeopardy, the momentary mayhem of a little mouse, a harp, and a piano; and her musically-talented husband's unexpected - and unplanned - 28-year Air Force career as a Supply Officer, a meteorologist, an associate professor of ROTC, and ultimately, a dentist (one of the most unique military careers on record). From her early days growing up in a small northern New Jersey town, to her college years, where she meets her husband John, Sherri Rogerson introduces, in humorous detail, her family and her life in the 1950s and 1960s.
