WHAT I WON'T DO FOR PLEASURE Kim Hardwick

A successful attorney recounts the sacrifices she's had to make to succeed. No act of love is too odious or morally reprehensible for her to partake of its joys.

This short story (3600 words) reveals a dirty, unpleasant aspect of the legal profession. Kim lets her clients do with her what they will so long as they get off. Along the way, she finds the love that was missing all her life.

At the firm, Kim 'takes' one for the team and shows the entire partnership how willing she is to do whatever it takes to get ahead. For Kim, nothing is out of bounds; NOTHING.

This frank and grimy look at how the legal system REALLY works is for mature readers only.
